

NZ Diploma in Aeronautical Maintenance Certification

LEVEL 6

Two flexible ways to study

In order to become a licensed aircraft maintenance engineer (LAME) you must pass your basic license exams. NMIT offers two flexible ways to study for your CAA exams around your work commitments.

New Zealand Diploma in Aeronautical Maintenance

Designed for people already working in the aviation engineering industry who wish to achieve a Diploma qualification. This programme will offer a blueprint to flexible study online towards your NZ Civil Aviation Authority Part 66 (NZ CAA) Aircraft Maintenance Engineering License (AMEL).

Aeronautical Maintenance Training Schemes

If you would prefer to study towards just some of the ASPEQ (CAA) exams these training scheme options will allow you to apply and pay for each stand-alone course subject as you go.
